

Draft development frameworks under the Island Development Plan

May 2019

Guernsey's Island Development Plan was introduced in November 2016 by the States of Guernsey Development & Planning Authority. The plan provides a legislative basis upon which planning decisions in Guernsey are made, alongside a number of 'tools' to ensure the successful utilisation of its policies.

One such 'tool' available for the use is the Draft Development Framework, which provides high-level guidance for the development of specific sites. The framework considers the location and features of a site and provides guidance to assist with the application of the plan's policies on the ground and in the resulting development. The aim of the framework is to provide a site's prospective developer with guidance of how the requirements of the plan may be discharged when they are making the full planning application.

Developers of sites that are the subject of a framework are recommended to carefully consider the content of the Framework in advance of preparing the formal application for planning permission.
