

PSC Register: A triumph for transparency or Snooper's Charter?

July 2014

In March of last year, the UK Parliament enacted the Small Business, Employment Act 2015 which contains amendments to the Companies Act 2006. These amendments, once in force, will require companies registered in the UK to maintain registers of individuals who have significant control over a company and will also provide for the introduction of a publicly accessible central register from 2016.

WE ARE OFFSHORE LAW

BVI | Cayman | Guernsey | Jersey | London

This note is a summary of the subject and is provided for information only. It does not purport to give specific legal advice, and before acting, further advice should always be sought. Whilst every care has been taken in producing this note neither the author nor Collas Crill shall be liable for any errors, misprint or misinterpretation of any of the matters set out in it. All copyright in this material belongs to Collas Crill.